INU hosts The International 2023 Alumni Reunion May 25-27

Dear esteemed partner universities,

I am happy to inform you that Incheon National University will host the first homecoming day for international exchange students who have studied with us since the year 1997. The event will take place on May 25-27, 2023, and we would be delighted if you could share this invitation with your alumni who have studied at Incheon National University as an exchange student.

This homecoming day is an opportunity for our alumni to reconnect with their fellow exchange students, to share their experiences and memories, and to learn about the developments and changes at Incheon National University.

We kindly request that they RSVP by March 17, 2023, to ensure that we can accommodate everyone and plan the event accordingly.

We appreciate your assistance in sharing this invitation with your alumni.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jong-Tae Park,
President of Incheon National University

INU President's Meeting with Romanian Ministers

By Junghyun Joo

Last December, Incheon National University (INU)'s President, Dr. Jong Tae Park (2nd from the left), met with Romanian Minister of Research, Innovation, and Digitalization, Sebastian-loan Burduja (2nd from the right), and Romanian Minister of Education, Rigla Deca (center), at the Embassy of Romania in Seoul. The meeting aimed to discuss potential collaborations between the Romanian government and the university. During the meeting, Dr. Park highlighted the university's strengths in research, technology, and innovation. He also shared INU's commitment to developing partnerships with leading institutions worldwide. The Romanian Ministers expressed their interest in collaborating with INU and praised the university's reputation for academic excellence.

The discussions centered on potential areas of collaboration in research, education, and digitalization. The Romanian Ministers expressed their interest in partnering with INU to develop joint research projects in fields such as biotechnology, energy, IT, and advanced materials.

Dr. Park welcomed the opportunity to work with the Romanian government and explore potential areas of cooperation.

The meeting ended with a positive note, with both parties expressing their willingness to continue discussions and explore further opportunities for collaboration. Dr. Park expressed his gratitude for the opportunity to meet with the Romanian Ministers, stating that he looked forward to working with them to advance academic and research excellence.

INU invites 11 GKS students from 8 countries

Undergraduate and Associate Degree

By Jongjin Lee

INU is set to welcome 11 international students from eight countries through the Global Korea Scholarship (GKS) program. The students will be provided with a wide range of benefits, including round-trip airfare, tuition fees, a stipend, settlement money, and health insurance during their stay in Korea.

The GKS program aims to promote international education by providing scholarships for undergraduate and graduate students from around the world. INU has been participating in the GKS program for several years, and this year, the university is welcoming 11 students from eight different countries, including Latvia, Mexico, Japan, France, Thailand, Malaysia, and Kyrgyzstan.

INU hosts the delegations from The University of Kitakyushu

By Sol Seo

INU hosted a delegation from the University of Kitakyushu in Japan, who visited from February 15 to 21, 2023, to participate in a cultural experience program. During their stay in Songdo, Incheon, the delegates had the opportunity to learn and enjoy various aspects of Korean culture.

The cultural experience program was designed to give the University of Kitakyushu delegates a taste of traditional Korean culture.

The University of Kitakyushu also hosted an alumni reunion for INU alumni who had studied at their university since 1998. The reunion provided an opportunity for the alumni to catch up with each other and to share memories of their time studying in Kitakyushu, Japan.
